at the Next Meeting.

It is claimed by the supporters of Colonel Nalle, that if Colonel Poole, who is now travelling in Ohio, attends the meeting of the held-officers of the First Brigade to be held here on the 7th of this month to elect a brigadier, he will change his vote from Nash to Nalle, thus giving the latter the seven votes necessary to elect him. Colonel Poole at the two previous meetings supported Colonel Nash, and the result was a dead-lock.

It is also thought in military circles that the announcement of the result of the recent court of inquiry will not be made public until after the meeting, for fear that it might affect the election.

Robbed the Ebel Building.

The new office building of Mr. Ebel, near the corner of Ninth and Main streets, was visited by some inexperienced burglars on Thursday night. The marauders gained entrance by inserting something between the sashes of a rearwindow of the second floor and removing the sash-lock. One of the panes of glass was taken from the partition that encloses the office of Mr. Harry D. Elchelberger, State agent of the Travellers' Insurance Company. An attempt was made to force open the safe, but the thieves abandoned this after taking off the lowethinges of the outer door. A regalia of the Commandery of St. Andrew, belonging to Mr. Elchelberger, was taken from a trunk and the jewels were cut from it. Two boxes of cigars and a few trifles make up Mr. Elchelberger's loss.

Mr. Gorman's speech of Thursday was Republicans and Democrats might unite to hold up Mr. Cleveland's hands. He appealed to the Republicans to look to the welfare of the country and not to the Interests of a party. Here is an extract which, though coming from a man not distinguished as an orator, must have been truly eloquent under the circumstances under which it was delivered. Mr Gorman said:

Mr. Gorman said:

"This government is able to pay every follar of its debts in the soundest money in the world. All that is necessary is to face the question as patriots and as American senators, and before we leave here make provision for the Treasury.

"I believe that this Senate, which has met every crisis in the history of the government; this Senate, which does not take account of the storms brewing outlide; this Senate, which has never yet bowed to a demagogue; this Senate, which will maintain the credit of the government, no matter what it costs, will, before this Congress adjourns—if it does not come from elsewhere, as it ought to doplace upon an appropriation bill provision enough to pay every honest obligation of the government that has been contracted, and to keep the administration (no matter which party it may be) in a position so that the monor of the government and the credit of the government shall be maintained; and we will continue to stand before the world the foremost nation in the matter of observing obligations."

The objection to Mr. Gorman's speech is that it seems to threaten the House of Representatives -"the people's house"and will probably evoke an opposition in that house which ought, if possible, to have been staved off.

Let nobody despair. It is not too late, let us say once more, for Congress to do all that it ought to do. Recollect how the present tariff law was rescued from threatened death at the last momenteven after all hope had been lost. Why may not Congress again rise to the

All of the newspapers of this country are giving much space to the death and phy of Ward McAllister. He now gets eulogies where he used to get only a great man-in his way. And so he was, It is said of him that his influence New York society was good, and that his effort was to make family distinction rather than wealth a passport to "the Four Hundred." He played an important part in his time, and ruled with a high hand; but his position was a difficult one, and made him more enemies than friends. He was the doorkeeper, as it were, to society, and many there were who tried to bribe him or sneak past him into the glittering halls where only he elect were bidden. It is said of him that though he had but a modest $20,000 a year, never could be be bought. There were many who tried to bribe him, but all falled. THE NEW ASSESSMENTS.

The assessors of city real estate—
Messrs, A. Y. Stokes, Jr., John Enders, and W. B. Newell—who have just completed the work of reassessing the property in Marshall Ward, heard complaints yesterday in Room 16, City Hall, from such citizens as regarded that their taxes had been placed at too high a figure. They had a number of visitors, but nearly all were satisfied with the assessments. The assessors consider the plan of closing up the assessment of one ward at a time as much the better plan. "It is generally known that when my wife came here she was very poorly off with nervous prostration. To-day she is the picture of health, and I must say we owe it to that splendid medicine, Dr. Green's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. "I know of several divers who have

"But let my wife tell her experience, which every one who knows her knows it is true in every particular." Mrs. Hutchins said: "I consider it my duty to state that I was permanently cured of nervous prostration by using three bottles of Dr. Greene's Nervura blood and nerve remedy. I doctored for two years or more with several eminent physicians without receiving any permanent benefit. "My husband insisted that I should ston employing a physician at once, and BEAUFORT, N. C., February 1.—(Special.)—This morning at 4 o'clock, at the home of Mr. J. D. Davis, father of the bride. Miss Lena C. Davis was married to Mr. Robert L. Humber. of Greenville, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. D. Moore, pastor of the Baptist church. A wedding breakfast was served by Mr. and Mrs. Davis, and the bridal party left immediately for the home of the groom. The couple received sixty handsome bridal presents here, besides a large number awaiting them at Greenville.

LEVY & DAVIS'S

Trustee's Sale

Cameron Carried Away $1,100.

GRAHAM, VA., February I.—(Special.)—
In my report of the departure of Mr. R.
R. Cameron, book-keeper for the Greenbrier Coal and Coke Company, McDowell, W. Va. I wrote $1,100 and it was printed $110. Since that time it appears from the condition of the books that the amount taken will greatly exceed the amount first reported.

The company has offered a reward of $200 for his apprehension. He had only been married a few months. His wife has gone to Cincinnati, O., where she has friends.

Cameron Carried Away $1,100.

"It's Cruel for them not to give you Pearline for your washing. Your folks can't know much about it. My! They could save their money, and all your hard work besides. I'm thankful the lady I live with is just the other way. She knows what Pearline will do, and she wants it. She'd never let me lose my time trying to get things clean with soap—and she wouldn't stand it to have her clothes all worn out with rubbing, either." That's the truth. The lack of Pearline comes just as hard on the mistress' clothes as it does on the laundress' back. Send Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, it Back and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 43: JAMES PYLE, New York.
